To our Industry Friends,

Cancellation of Industry Day 2020

It is with great regret that I am writing to you today to inform you that I have decided to cancel the Industry Day this December in Ingolstadt.

Changes in coronavirus/COVID-19 pandemic regulations from the host nation and public health organisations have made it impossible to hold the event in an appropriate manner.

Furthermore, I have also been forced to cancel the Information Exchange Seminar, which provides the main military audience for the Industry Day. Without the principle audience Industry Day is not a viable proposition.

On a more positive note, you may also be interested in an exciting new project that we have recently started working on here at the MILENG COE. We are trying to develop an online forum for information exchange between industry and NATO military engineers on our External Portal. It is still early days yet but the aim is to facilitate the exchange of ideas and plans from both sides. More to follow on this soon.

Once more, I would like to express my apologies for this cancellation. I would also especially like to thank those who had already registered for Industry Day 2020 and to all of you for your understanding. I regret any inconvenience this decision may cause you.

Rest assured we will continue to plan for a bigger and better event on 8th December 2021.
